

Examination skills from the perspective of students (SU Teaching Assistant and Learning Program; module: Learning)

Target groups: students, guest and auditing students, tutors from all faculties, doctorate students without teaching task, anyone else, who is interested

Contents: There are many approaches that can make exams (even) more successful than before. Learn good preparation methods, such as various helpful learning techniques as well as project and stress management with regard to exams and assessments.

Learn more about different assessment formats and concepts so that you can prepare in a more targeted manner. Our aim is to help you take your exams and assessments in a more reflective and prepared manner.

Lecturer and Program manager: Dr. Birgit Roßmanith has been head of the University Didactics Unit at the SU at ZeLL since 2008.
