

University- and Online-Learning

(UdS-Teaching Assistant and Learning Programme; Module: Learning)

Target groups: students, guest students, tutors from all faculties, all other interested University members

Contents: The range of scientific courses is increasingly moving in an international environment. Students from all over the world can learn and interact with one another in face-to-face, hybrid and e-learning courses. In this workshop we would like to give students and tutors the opportunity to reflect on themselves in English and to try out themselves as student in English. The seminar is suitable for both international English-speaking and German-speaking students who would like to advance academic learning skills in English and / or who want to move confidently with the relevant English-language vocabulary in the field of learning in higher education.

In addition, the opportunities in online and blended learning seminars to use both analog and digital tools to learn and teach individually or together are pluralized. You will also get to know digital tools that facilitate online learning, promote cooperation and focus in a target-oriented manner.

Zudem pluralisieren sich die Möglichkeiten in Online- und Blended-Learning geprägten Workshops sowohl analoge als auch digitale Tools zur Anwendung zu bringen, um individuell oder gemeinsam zu lernen und zu lehren. Sie lernen auch digitale Tools kennen, die Online-Learning erleichtern, Kooperation fördern und zielorientiert fokussieren.

Individual seminar, programme, certificate: For a full and committed visit to an individual event in the modules "Teaching Assistant" and "Learning", you will receive a proof of competence-based participation from the Division for University Didactics at SU (AS HD). This workshop can be incorporated into the teaching assistant and learning certificate building on the basic workshops. You can book the workshop as a single event independently of the teaching assistant and learning certificate. Participants from 10 AE combined with a written performance can complete CPs regardless of the certificate.

Recognition of the CPs: The workshop, the programme and the certificate are recognized in the Bachelor's optional area. For other courses of study, ask your examination office whether the CPs are recognized. These are individual decisions by the examination offices.

Speaker: Birgit Roßmanith has been in charge of the SU-Division for University Didactics at Zell and the University Didactics of Saarland University since 2008. She is an educational and social scientist and works as a developer, academic teacher, lecturer, consultant, coach, researcher and author.

Programme and Certificate Responsible: Birgit Roßmanith
