5th Teachers' Day: Behaviour Rules?

Workshop Dorothee Schütz & Henry Rademacher

"Never talk about sex, politics, or religion": time abroad in the U.S.

This workshop is designed to complement the largely UK-focused Teachers' Day presentations and workshops. Through discussion, short activities, and various examples from various media, we will focus on the somewhat artificial but classic divisions in culture studies / Landeskunde taught in schools. Likewise, in an effort to help teachers prepare lessons, we will examine some of the finer points of politeness in the American context. It is hoped that participants will consider the differences between "description" and "analysis" with regard to culture studies–U.S., and that one's own conceptions of what might be called "German culture" must always be up for discussion when attempting to explain culture(s) in the U.S.
