

Pieter Van Vaerenbergh LL.M

Pieter Van Vaerenbergh is an assistant and doctoral researcher at Saarland University and the Europa-Institut. His research interests include EU trade defence instruments, sustainable international trade law, and international dispute resolution in trade and investment matters.

Currently, Pieter is a Ph.D. candidate under the supervision of Prof. Dr. Marc Bungenberg, LL.M. He researches on the achievement of the objectives of environmental protection and sustainable development in the legal framework of WTO trade-related remedies. In addition, he supervises the team of Saarland University in the Willem C. Vis International Commercial Arbitration Moot, together with Prof. Dr. em. Helmut Rießmann.

Pieter completed his law studies at the University of Ghent (Belgium) and obtained an LL.M. degree in international and European law at the Europa-Institut of the University of Saarland. He also completed an internship at the European Court of Justice, at the cabinet of the President of the Court Judge Koen Lenaerts.
