

Saarland University has one of the strongest research profiles among Germany's mid-sized universities and was one of the first universities in Germany to achieve official quality assurance accreditation. The three main research hubs 'Computer Science and Informatics', 'NanoBioMed' and 'Europe' are defining features of the University. Numerous internationally respected research institutes in the vicinity of the University and dedicated support for start-up companies make Saarland University an ideal environment for research, teaching and innovation. The proportion of international students studying at Saarland University is well above the national average and is testimony to the University's strong international focus. The University has been an officially certified family-friendly university since 2004.

As part of the career development programme for junior researchers funded by the German federal and state governments, Faculty of Humanities is inviting applications for the following tenure-track junior professorships commencing winter semester 2020/21:

Child and Adolescent Clinical Psychology and Psychotherapy

(Reference W1635)

Deadline for Applications: 31.01.2020

These positions will initially be fixed-term public sector positions ('Beamtenverhältnis auf Zeit') for a period of up to four years. The duration of the appointment may be extended up to a maximum of six years in total if this is supported by the results of the teaching appraisal and the external assessment of the appointee's research work. If performance continues to meet the required standards and if the tenure evaluation procedure is positive, the junior professor (at the German academic salary scale W1) will be promoted to a permanent professorship (lifetime tenure) at the German academic salary scale W2. The appointment will be made in accordance with the general provisions of German public sector employment law.

The successful candidate will demonstrate a commitment to research and teaching excellence in child and adolescent clinical psychology and psychotherapy at the Department of Psychology, as well as developing and managing the Psychotherapy outpatient clinic for children and adolescents at Saarland University. We are seeking to appoint a young researcher with a strong record of academic publications in the field and ideally an individual who has already raised third party funding. The junior professor is expected to work closely with the Chair of Clinical Psychology and Psychotherapy. We welcome applications from scientists willing to contribute and complement further research activities at the Department of Psychology. The successful candidate may share existing research resources at the Department including the EEG and reaction time lab. Candidates with a licence to practise psychotherapy specialized in child and adolescent psychotherapy or who in an advanced stage of training are desired. A licence to practise is essential for continued employment after the initial term. The Department of Psychology supports the academic principles of transparent and replicable research. Applicants are therefore requested to consider in their application how they address these principles in their current research or teaching or their intentions to do so in future.

Candidates must be university graduates with experience in and an aptitude for academic teaching who have shown a particular capacity for independent academic research, generally through the outstanding quality of their PhD or doctorate. For additional information on employment requirements, please refer to Sec. 1.2 of the Framework Regulations Governing the Approval, Recruitment and Evaluation Procedures for Junior Professorships at Saarland University (Rahmenordnung zur Freigabe, Besetzung und Evaluation von Juniorprofessuren an der Universität des Saarlandes) of 12 December 2018 (www.uni-saarland.de/Berufungen).

Please submit your application online via the Saarland University applications portal by: www.uni-saarland.de/Berufungen. Application documents must be uploaded as a PDF file (max.10MB) including the following documents: CV, certificates, list of publications, summary of previous research and teaching experience (including teaching appraisals if applicable), details of the amount and type of third party funding, your three most important publications and the recruitment questionnaire for junior professorships ('Fragebogen zur Überprüfung der Einstellungsvoraussetzungen' www.uni-saarland.de/Berufungen).

At Saarland University, we view internationalization as a process that spans all aspects of University life. We therefore expect members of our professorial staff to engage in activities that promote and foster further internationalization and to be willing to teach in a foreign language. Particular support is offered to cooperative projects with partners within the Saar-Lor-Lux region as part of the 'University of the Greater Region' (www.uni-gr.eu).

In accordance with the objectives of its equal opportunities plan, Saarland University seeks to increase the proportion of women in professorial positions and applications from qualified women candidates are therefore strongly encouraged. Preferential consideration will be given to severely disabled candidates of equal eligibility.
