WE ARE SEEKING A LEGAL INTERN

• To support the work of the Convention’s innovative Compliance Committee, an international committee that hears cases brought by members of the public and governments seeking to ensure the Convention’s rights are upheld;
• To assist in preparations for, and servicing of, international meetings held under the Convention;
• To provide support to the Convention’s communication activities.

IN RETURN, WE OFFER

• Hands-on experience in the work of a secretariat to a UN treaty and direct exposure to international environmental governance in action;
• Application of your legal skills in a UN context;
• A meaningful learning experience in a small and dynamic team.

YOUR QUALIFICATIONS

• Presently undertaking (or have recently completed) an advanced degree in law or the final academic year of an undergraduate law degree, preferably including studies in international and/or environmental law;
• If you have already graduated, available to commence the internship within 12 months of graduation;
• Fluency in written and spoken English, fluency in Russian and/or French desirable.
