Cebi is a leading developer and manufacturer of components for automotive applications, household appliances, ventilation, electric vehicles and other industrial applications, employing more than 3000 people in 13 countries. Among its customers are the most prestigious automotive and household appliances manufacturers.

Aside from validating the products in its own laboratories, the company has set up 7 R&D centers and employs around 260 R&D experts, dedicated to innovation and product enhancements.

Cebi Luxembourg S.A., the production company located in Steinsel, employs more than 600 people and is certified IATF 16949 as well as ISO 14001.

To support its ongoing development, Cebi Luxembourg S.A. is recruiting a:

Customer and System Quality Engineer (m/f)

Your Mission:

- You are the main contact person for our customers of the automotive and household appliances sectors for our serial life products;
- You contribute to the continuation and improvement of the customer relationship dealing their files within the expected timelines;
- You follow up the management of the non-conformities of our products, both internally and externally and make recommendations for the optimisation of the products and processes in collaboration with the other departments;
- You assist our customers through regular missions on their production sites;
- You ensure the internal quality system continuation and improvement.

Your Profile:

- Engineering Degree or equivalent with a 3 years’ experience in a similar position in the automotive sector;
- Fluency in German and English;
- Knowledge of the IATF 16949 and ISO 14001 standards;
- Knowledge of the main quality tools (8D, 5W, Ishikawa …);
- Knowledge of audit practices (VDA 6.3, ISO …);
- Good communication skills, you know how to popularize technical informations to customers and internally;
- Interpersonal skills, autonomy and team player.

You want to know more about Cebi and apply to our job offers?

www.cebi.com